Manager - Admin & Projects

In the beginning, we would like to convey our thanks and appreciation to all company staff for their efforts, perseverance, dedication, and team spirit. The company would not have achieved what it has achieved now without all that effort. We would also like to register our gratitude and sincere pride to the team of the newsletter for hosting and for their efforts.

As you all know, companies operating in the aviation and air cargo sectors, are among the most affected by the fallout of the current crisis. Travel has been banned to curb the covid-19 outbreak has caused airlines to be unable to transport passengers seamlessly between countries around the world and their airports. This, in turn, caused a sharp decline in the revenues of airlines and the sectors supporting airports globally. Resulting in a large set of challenges in the short and long term, where many companies began to reduce salaries and lay off employees. Unfortunately, some large and medium-sized companies were forced to terminate and dissolve their business as a result of not being able to run their business, as several young people took advantage of the period of the lockdown to establish electronic stores, and sell everything that people may need, without stepping out of their houses. At the push of a button, many people start buying online and trust the performance of these commercial websites at the lowest costs. This, create great opportunities for young people to establish major courier companies regionally and globally. And let us learn from all this, that crises create opportunities, and make everyone always seeks alternatives and solutions to those crises. This is what the company always seeks to achieve in many aspects. Please accept the utmost respect and appreciation.

Sheikh Ayman Al Hosni, Chairman of Oman SATS LLC official visit

Sheikh Ayman, the Chairman of Oman SATS LLC, The CEO of Oman Airports, honored us with his kind visit. Sheikh Ayman's visit is considered a regular visit especially after transferring the eligible shares to Oman Airports.

On 17th Aug, Sheikh Ayman Al-Hosni, met the management team and checked the operations with them as they elaborated the best practices in order to add significant value to the aviation sector with the aim of excellently managing and further development in Cargo sectors.

Thank you sheik Ayman for the visit and concern as well as the guidance and advice for the company.

Government Stakeholders Meeting held on 16th Aug at the Cargo Building

Oman SATS always seeks to attend and hold meetings internally and externally, especially in light of this pandemic to strengthen the relationship between companies and institutions to better serve the industry and Sultanate of Oman. On August, 16th 2021, Oman SATS LLC held a meeting with government stakeholder agencies.

It took place at the Cargo building with participants from Customs/ROP, Ministry of Health, Ministry of Agriculture, Muscat Municipality, and Be'ah to facilitate cargo processes and improve efficiencies to serve the industry and the Sultanate. We highly appreciate all the stakeholders for their solid support and collaboration.

Staff Engagement

First, tell us about yourself?

Salem bin Khamis bin Salem Al Maawali, and I currently work as an assistant supervisor at Import section.

What are the obstacles you faced during your working life?

To be honest, there were many difficulties that I faced. I may not be able to mention them all here. However, I always told myself and my colleagues that the staff must overcome any obstacle in his career with determination, and will overcome them.

The best example of these difficulties, we worked in the old cargo building under the scorching sun for long times, and under temperatures that sometimes reached 45 degrees Celsius. Everyone was afraid of the intense heat, and I am proud that I was the only Omani staff working in that kind of environment, and despite that, we were able to overcome all these difficult circumstances.

Away from the work atmosphere ... We heard that you have some freelance work, tell us a little about its nature?

Indeed, I am a tour guide within the borders of the Sultanate of Oman only. My trips started from the northern Khasab, to the southern Salalah. The beginnings were in 2008 as a driver for delegations and tourists from different countries of the world. We used to tour them in the deserts and mountains as they are the most important elements that the Sultanate enjoys. The challenges here lie in the language, and the long time we spent moving between a state and a governorate far from our families. But this also does not hide the beauty of this experience and its good income. We are now in the process of establishing a specialized tourism company.

How was your start with Oman Air?

Of course, my beginning was as a loading and unloading porter with Oman Air at the end of 2007. After that, thankfully, I was gradually promoted as a driver. Then, I took upon myself to learn the basics of air cargo through contact with my fellow employees. In short time, I was promoted to an agent where now I am working as an assistant supervisor in Import section. having previously gone through the export section as well.

A final word for your staff colleagues and readers of the Newsletter?

For all staff, hold on to the will, and determination to reach the goals you want to achieve. Do not pay attention to the frustrating talk, and stay away as much as possible from negative people.

Tell us about Abdullah Al Buraiki?

I'm Abdullah bin Ali bin Rashid Al Buraiki, from the state of Saham and working as 'customs agent' for around Four years in Cargo Building in Golden Horizon advanced business company.

What is the secret of the ever-present smile and playful laugh of Abdullah Al Buraiki?

It is a blessing from God above all, I always take things simply. I love to meet my colleagues and brothers generously, and I carry with my heart only all love and respect for everyone. From this point of view, I carry with my heart all pure good intentions. I always smile and thank God.

What was your most important work station until you get to where you are now?

I started in one of the leading institutes of carpentry and mastered it. I studied in the field of Mechanics and graduated successfully after that worked in the Gulf agencies company. Then, I joined several courses in the field of safety and firefighting.

I signed up for the customs clearance course and I found out that it was a potential future with an attractive income. I decided with one of my friends to establish a customs clearance company. We continued this partnership with strong collaboration, determination, and positivity. All that was the secret to the success of all these works I did. I want to mention that one of the most important stations that have impacted my life is the love of cheerleading for football players

What do you think about the services offered by Oman SATS and how you rate your satisfaction with these services?

No, it's obvious to everyone the quality of services provided by the Oman SATS. That couldn't have happened without the high efficiency of the staff whom I greet and appreciate. The new implemented technologies saved a lot of time and effort and accordingly the mechanism of cargo delivery becomes smoother.

By the way, how did this great passion for football players cheerleading begin with you?

I loved football since I was young, through out playing and encouraging the local teams in our state. I was attending all the games that are held and encouraging the players until I grew a love of cheerleading and I obviously mastered it. I was associated with the cheerleading associations then and took efforts learning the habits of cheerleading from those who introduced me with this hobby, I am very happy and proud to be part of the Association of handball and volleyball clubs' fan here in the Sultanate. I will continue to practice and be better and at the same time enjoy this wonderful hobby.

Oman Vision 2040

Oman Vision 2040 has garnered wide community participation. The created Vision committees consisted of representatives of the Government, the Council of Oman, the private sector, civil society organizations (CSOs) and citizens – experts, scholars and specialists.

Community dialogue was launched with inclusive participation from the different sectors, actors and segments of society, representing the government sector, private sector, CSOs, municipal councils, academic institutions and agencies, and other sectors, including the press among others, with the attendance of groups representing women, youths, persons with disabilities and students from all levels, in addition to a range of residents in Oman.

This community participation was present throughout the stages of Vision development, across the different governorates of Oman, thus embodying the consensus between the political leadership and all segments of the community to create gradual transformation across the board – transformation that would maintain and strengthen the stability enjoyed by Oman and make today's Vision a realistic path towards attaining the objectives of the future we aspire to.

Outlook tips :

Organize your emails into folders :

If you want to streamline your email use, this is the obvious first step. But it can also be the most daunting, as well, especially if you have an overflowing inbox. Still, organizing your emails into a folder system that's intuitive and easy to navigate makes the most sense — no more hours spent searching for that old email among thousands of others. In addition, an easy to navigate folder system will motivate you to deal with each email as it arrives instead of perpetually putting it off until later.

Take advantage of Outlook's easy email templates :

If you find yourself composing the same kind of message over and over again, save one of the emails as a template so that you can quickly reference it in the future. Go to File > Save As... > Outlook template, then click on Items > Choose Form... > User Templates when you're ready to put that pre-saved form to use.

Save important emails, calendar events, and notes as files on your desktop :

This not only helps to streamline your inbox but also allows you to access crucial messages and events even quicker. Simply drag an email, calendar entry, or other note on to your desktop or into a folder, or click File > Save As if you'd like to save it in a specific file format. Then, when you're ready to access it, double click and it will automatically open in Outlook.

Schedule delivery of an email :

Want to compose a message now but send it later? Outlook makes it easy. Write your email, then go to Options > Delay Delivery > Do not deliver before, then specify the time and date you want it to go out. Perfect for crafting a few timely responses before you hop on a plane or go into an afternoon of meetings.

Work Ethics

Work Ethics Skills :

Employees with a strong work ethic exhibit a particular set of values and behaviors. These characteristics make them stand out as highly coveted team members and praise-worthy employees.

Reliability :

Employees with a strong work ethic are very reliable. You can expect these individuals to be on time for shifts and meetings. They meet their deadlines and offer quality work. A reliable coworker makes an excellent teammate because they contribute fairly to projects.

Dedication :

Part of a good work ethic is commitment and dedication to the job. They know how to focus on tasks without being distracted. These employees usually work until they finish their duties. They stay with one company for long periods of time.

Discipline :

Discipline is an essential part of showing a good work ethic. Highly disciplined employees show determination and commitment to the job. They strive to meet or exceed expectations and seek opportunities to learn new skills and improve their performance.

Productivity :

A strong work ethic translates to outstanding productivity. Productive employees often have a higher output than their counterparts. They complete projects early and do more than the minimum requirements.
